

Ethics lesson - Heller's column

Divide the class into groups of five to discuss the Washington Post articles and the examples they found. Questions they might address include:

Students' responses:

1 --Should there be a distinction of free speech between editorial/opinions and news?

2 --How do you feel about the 10 day prior review the district has implemented? Is McGoldrick's claim about making the newspaper "irrelevant" valid?

3 --What can you speculate that the school administration consider a "reasonable reason" for censorship?
